Japan To Be Invaded After Shattering Air Offensive Of 1,000 Plane B-29 Raids

ATTACKS ON JAPAN BEING INTENSIFIED

By RAYMOND WILCOVE
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, June 22.—Gen. George C. Marshall was revealed today to have informed congress that Japan will be invaded after a shattering air offensive spearheaded by 1,000-plane B-29 raids.

This disclosure was made during consideration of a $38,500,285,951 War department bill for the new fiscal year beginning July 1, which was approved today by the House Appropriations committee following lengthy executive sessions. It is 15 billion dollars less than for 1945.

"There is little of military secrecy as to the general nature of our plans for the coming year," the Army chief of staff told the committee.

Constantly Increasing

"The offensives in the Pacific are to be intensified to the maximum degree possible. Air strikes of constantly increasing power will devastate the Japanese war-making facilities and defenses and pave the way for invasion."

Marshall, asserting that he is opposed to a blockade of Japan and a war of attrition, stated:

"Economy in lives and materiel, as well as the psychology of the American people, demand that we mount a swift, powerful offensive, forcing a victory at the earliest possible date."

"We plan to gain victory speedily," he continued, "by an overwhelming

Expect Senate Will Ratify World Charter

SAN FRANCISCO, June 22—(INS)—Ratification of the new world security charter by the United States senate was put down as a certainty today with disclosure that the upper chamber's bipartisan representatives in the American delegation will make an all-out fight for approval of the historic document.

Senators Tom Connally (D) Tex., and Arthur H. Vandenberg (R) Mich., plan to fly directly to Washington following next Tuesday night's adjournment of the San Francisco meeting. In successive speeches next Thursday and Friday, both will report to the senate on the nine-week conference.

Vandenberg To Defense

Of importance to the outlook for speedy approval of the charter by all 50 nations now ready to sign the peace-keeping agreement was the fact that Senator Vandenberg, the Republican party's foreign policy spokesman, is ready to defend it against any and all attacks.

For all practical purposes, the San Francisco conference was all over but the "signing and the applause"

Australian Troops Make Capture Of Lutong In Surprise Landing

JAP DEFENDERS TAKE TO FLIGHT

By LEE VAN ATTA
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

MANILA, June 22.—The prized Borneo oil refining center of Lutong was in the hands of Gen. Douglas MacArthur's Australian troops today following an unopposed amphibious landing on the west coast below Brunei Bay.

(Melbourne radio as heard by ABC reported that Lutong refinery equipment and tanks containing thousands of gallons of oil were found intact by landing forces.

(Warehouses were still stacked with machine guns and other arms, the broadcast added, and stocks of bombs and aircraft and radio parts were discovered.)

Japs Flee Quickly

(The report said also that Jap defenders fled too quickly even to set booby traps and land mines.)

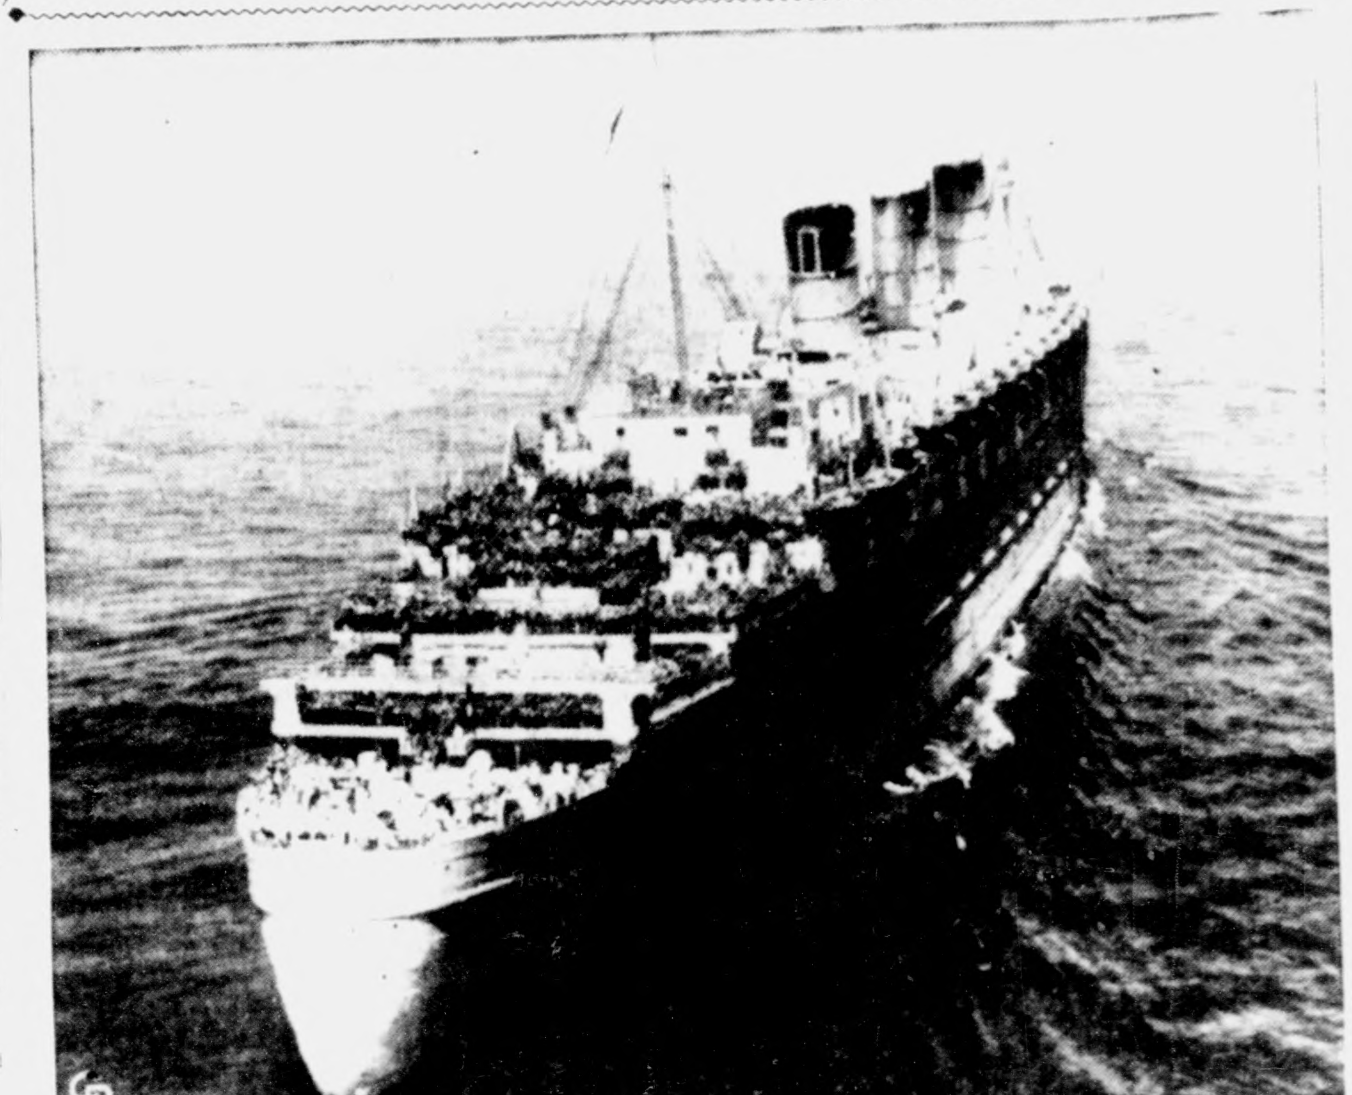

Lutong, a refinery center for the rich Seria and Miri oil fields on Borneo's west coast, was seized by elements of the famed Australian Ninth Division, MacArthur announced.

The landing at Lutong moved Allied spearheads down the coast for a distance of 80 miles from the Brunei Bay sector where Aussie troops landed June 10.

Intensive bombardment of beach approaches paved the way for the landing which was unopposed. This

More Than 4,000 Jap Prisoners In Okinawa Battle

Over 1,700 Surrender On Last Day Of Resistance It Is Announced

By JOHN R. HENRY
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

GUAM, June 22—The first large scale surrender of Japanese troops in the history of the Pacific war still left numerous small groups of enemy forces to be mopped up today by the victorious U. S. tenth army on conquered Okinawa.

Front dispatches indicated that a vast mopping up campaign remained to be done although the battle set a record for mass surrenders by Japanese.

More than 4,000 prisoners were taken by the Americans during the course of the bloody 82-day battle and at least 1,700 Nips surrendered yesterday in the last day of organized resistance.

Bear White Flags

Some of the surrendering enemy groups were led by their officers bearing white flags, and observers saw in this good signs for the future from the American viewpoint.

While the mass surrenders on Okinawa were unprecedented, the fact was not overlooked that scores

Jap Resistance On Every Luzon Front Crumbles

By JOHN CASHMAN
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

MANILA, June 22—Japanese resistance appeared to be crumbling on every Luzon front tonight (Friday) on the basis of reports from field commanders in all sectors.

Enemy troops in increasing numbers were surrendering to American forces in the Cagayan valley and in the mountains east of Manila. Reports of surrender indicated clearly the abrupt deterioration which is undermining Nip General Tomoyuki Yamashita's once-vaunted Philippine suicide forces.

Japs Surrender

Field reports emphasized the changed attitudes of Japs who gave themselves up. These dispatches told of "close cooperation and apparent delight at being finished with a losing campaign" among the newly captured Japs.

At many points however both in the Cagayan valley and in mountainous ridge positions east of Manila, Jap forces continued to put up stiff resistance.

The general tenor of word from the front indicated, nevertheless, that organized Jap resistance on Luzon was rapidly approaching a complete collapse.

American troops as well as Filipino guerrillas were driving in for the final kill with close and heavy support from the air.

The guerrillas held control of the entire Cagayan valley west of the Cagayan river after capturing the airfield town of Tuguegarao.

Seventh War Loan Over Top Except E Bonds

WASHINGTON, June 22—(INS)—The fourteen billion dollar 7th war loan drive is oversubscribed today but Treasury Secretary Morgenthau warns the people against overconfidence until the seven billion dollar individual sales quota is met.

Total bond sales now total fifteen billion 982 million dollars with corporation sales hitting the nine billion 782 million mark. This exceeds the corporate quota by two billion 782 million.

Individual sales have reached six billion 200 million against the individual quota of seven billion. Of the total individual sales, two billion 779 million is in E bonds.

This progress is most gratifying to the treasury, Morgenthau declared. "It means the corporations, by their purchases, have passed their quota.

"I would like to caution the people of the country against overconfidence, however, for the 7th war loan quotas were divided into categories and the loan cannot be considered a complete success until the full quota of the seven billion dollars in bond sales to individuals is met."

Kyushu Fears Invasion Now

Tokyo Report Indicates Landing On Home Island Is Expected

SAN FRANCISCO, June 22—(INS)—The people of the southernmost Japanese home island of Kyushu were prepared today to defend their territory against an expected American invasion according to a Tokyo radio broadcast.

The broadcast, as heard by the FCC, quoted a report from Kuichiro Tozuka, superintendent general of the island. The report said that the people were ready for an invasion and that they believe "the enemy will certainly land" on Kyushu.

Tokyo radio called Tozuka's report "reassuring" and quoted him as saying:

"The spirit of the special attack (suicide) corps is thoroughly instilled in the hearts of the entire people of Kyushu."

The broadcast also said that Tozuka disclosed that "a system for the interception of enemy planes throughout Kyushu has now reached a state of perfection through the guidance of the armed forces and the self-sacrificing effort of the people in each area."

E Bond Sales In State Take Spurt

PHILADELPHIA, June 22—(INS)—E bond sales through Wednesday in Pennsylvania's Seventh War Loan drive were reported today to have risen $5,000,000 for the first time in a week.

The purchases brought the total to $188,800,000 or 65.5 percent of the state's $288,000,000 E bond quota.

Sales, however, will have to increase much more if the state is to meet its quota, G. Ruhland Rebmann Jr., chairman of the State War Finance committee, said.

Major Step To Speed War Trials

Jackson Proposes That Trials Of War Criminals Be Military

By J. C. OESTREICHER
(I. N. S. Foreign Editor)

A major step toward speeding up the trial of Nazi war criminals—the long-awaited legal procedure that will help to hasten the defeat of Japan—was taken today by Supreme Court Justice Robert H. Jackson.

The Pennsylvania-born chief American prosecutor on the Allied War Crimes commission made the proposal in London that all war criminals be tried by military tribunals rather than civilian courts in the various nations where the offenses were committed.

He suggested a four-barreled court-martial manned by military officials from the United States, Great Britain, Soviet Russia and France. The other Allied Nations, he said, have not yet accepted the proposal nor have they turned it down.

Desire Speed

Justice Jackson already has announced that the United States will act unilaterally against the war criminals if other nations delay in administering punishment to those who started the war.

His desire for quick action repre-

Spring Pig Crop Decrease Is Seen

WASHINGTON, June 22—(INS)—The department of agriculture today estimated the 1945 spring pig crop at 51 million 678 thousand head, a decrease of seven per cent from that of 1944.

A fall pig crop of about 35,300,000, an increase of 13 per cent, is indicated by farmers' reports on intentions for fall farrowings, the department said.

The combined 1945 pig crop will be about 87 million, the department declared, compared with 86,753,000 in 1944 and 121,706,000 in 1943.

Based on returns from 144,000 farmers, the report shows that total hogs over six months old on farms June 1 were about 26 per cent less than a year ago and 29 per cent below 1943.

First Six Months Of Present Year Really Brings War Home To Japan

By JOHN R. HENRY
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

GUAM, June 22—The first six months of 1945, soon to end, really brought the war home to Japan.

Figures available today at headquarters of Fleet Admiral Chester W. Nimitz reveal that in addition to the loss of the vital backdoor islands of Iwo Jima and Okinawa, the enemy suffered staggering losses in other military categories.

Losses Suffered

These include:

More than 120,000 personnel casualties, of which at least 115,000 have been killed.

The loss of 592 ships, including their last modern battleship, the Yamato.

Destruction of some 5,750 aircraft.

Meanwhile, the steadily mounting air onslaught against Japan brought the downpour of 80,000 tons of bombs by giant Superfortresses on targets in the home islands, sending the enemy war production program reeling.

More was still to come.

Get Closer Bases

The seizure of Okinawa gave the United States airfields within 350 miles of the Japanese mainland and 400 miles from the China coast. The capture of Iwo Jima placed American airpower within three hours of Tokyo so Iwo-based fighters could escort the Marianas-based B-29s on their forays against imperial soil.

The smashing sky assaults, which General of the Army Henry H. Arnold promised would reach a total of 2,000,000 tons of bombs dropped on Japan in a year, were abetted by 14 major naval aircraft carrier strikes on Japan since January 1.

The air blockade of Japan cut down perceptibly enemy sea communications, but the navy's submarines contributed the lion's share of destruction to Hirohito's shipping.

Subs Sink Many Ships

A breakdown of enemy shipping losses shows that while American air and sea forces sent 380 Jap ships to the bottom, a total of 212 others were sunk by submarines.

Against American airmen in this first half of the fourth year of war, Japanese fliers were hardly a match. The 5,747 planes bagged by Yank airmen in the first six months of this year are nearly as many as the 6,650 that were destroyed in Nimitz's command area all last year.

These disastrous blows against enemy airmen, combined with the devastation wrought by B-29s and carrier raiders on Japanese war plants, prompted Nimitz to say at

Major Mystery In Washington

How Much Power Will President Vest In New "Food Boss?"

By ERWIN D. SIAS
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, June 22 — One of the major mysteries in Washington today is how much power President Truman will vest in Rep. Clinton Anderson (D., N. M.) who takes over as secretary of agriculture and "food boss" on July 1.

Some congressional sources are convinced that the chief executive has groomed Anderson specifically for the job of "czar" over the nation's food problem with authority to re-shuffle conflicting agencies, including the OPA. They believe Mr. Truman intends to confer added powers to Anderson to pass upon all food policies, directives and orders.

Those with conflicting views, however, assert emphatically that Anderson will get no additional power. This means that he will have the same set-up with which WFA Chief Marvin Jones sought in vain to iron the kinks out of the food muddle.

"Wheel Horse"

These sources label Anderson an administration "wheel horse." They predict that War Mobilizer Fred M. Vinson will continue to make the final decisions on food policy; that the president will not turn out the policy-making, minor OPA officials who, they say, currently guide the nation's food program.

Those who expect Anderson to be a real "food czar" point to President Truman's assertion on the west coast that the food situation will be solved as soon as the new secretary takes over his cabinet post. They likewise refer to Mr. Truman's declaration that his White House conference with former President Herbert Hoover on the food situation was helpful.

It was Hoover who recommended to congress through a letter to the house Republican food study committee, that the agriculture secretary be given absolute power over food.

Because President Truman predicts that the food problems will be solved when Anderson takes over, these sources explain, it means that he plans to make the congressman a "supreme commander" of the nation's breadbasket.

SOMEWHERE IN THE SOUTH PACIFIC—(INS)—Cpl. Frank Sochats of Conway, Pa., was exhibited to the natives of several islands as a model American soldier. The "typical" GI is blond, 25 years old, six feet in height and weighs 180 pounds.

EXPECT SENATE WILL RATIFY WORLD CHARTER

All that remained to be recorded were the final sessions which will end Tuesday afternoon with President Truman's address to the assembled delegates.

Mr. Truman will address the delegates between 5 and 5:30 p. m. PWT Tuesday. Two hour after the conference adjourns that night, Connally and Vanderberg will take off for Washington.

There was no likelihood, according to informed American opinion in the Golden Gate city, that the charter would clear the senate before President Truman goes to the "big three" meeting in mid-July.

Senate Hearings

Senate hearings, however, will undoubtedly open before Mr. Truman leaves for his meeting with Prime Minister Churchill and Marshal Stalin as Secretary of State Edward R. Stettinius is to be the first and key witness.

Reaction to the now completed charter for maintenance of peace and security was good among delegates to the conference.

Clearly, it was accepted as a compromise declaration between the big five and the "little 45" powers, with both groups giving something in the interest of world cooperation to prevent future wars. It was summed up by one key delegation leader as "the best we could accomplish".

One of the last problems disposed of was arrangements for the interim commission which will function until the various organs of the new world league begin to function. The interim commission will make London its permanent seat. This was proposed by Soviet Ambassador Andrei A. Gromyko and won unanimous approval.

GREAT DAY FOR ABILENE, KANSAS

inson county gathered here today to do him honor in a festival filled with loving ingenuity and lively imagination.

Two Stories In Parade

Abilene's parade, led by the general, unfolded two stories:

(1) The life of Ike Eisenhower, depicted on a dozen floats, and

(2) The history of Abilene and Dickinson county and their joint contribution to the war, the European half of which their Ike was so instrumental in winning.

On one float, Ike could see himself in his role as star of the Abilene high school football team. On another, he could witness his graduation from high school. On still another, his days at West Point were depicted, then his activities in World War I and finally in World War II.

Ike Gets Ovation

Ike, at the head of the parade, looked proud and happy enough to bust. He was home at last and he loved it and the home-town people who were honoring him. It goes without saying that they loved him. The roar they loosed along the line of march put to shame the most stentorian throats in Washington, New York and Kansas City. Ike was home and his townspeople were glad of it, and they weren't ashamed to let him know it.

"This is the happiest day in Kansas history," Gov. Andrew F. Schoeppel of Kansas said.

This town and this county have given 2,500 men to the armed service in World War II and today, Ike rode slowly past the big honor roll on which are enscribed the names of these boys. Almost 100 gold stars shine forth on this honor roll.

The men, the money and the material his home town and county have sent to war unrolled dramatically before Ike today as the typical contribution of one of thousands of almost identical American communities.

Abilene has many honor guests today, but all willingly took a back seat for Ike. Among those guests were former Gov. Alf M. Landon, once Republican presidential candidate, and Mrs. Landon; Harry H. Woodring, former secretary of war, and Mrs. Woodring; and Gov. Andrew F. Schoeppel of Kansas and Mrs. Schoeppel.

sents general American opinion and it is difficult to understand why the nations of Europe, which suffered more than the United States from Nazi aggression, are doing anything which in any manner would delay just retribution.

From the strictly American point of view, it is imperative that Hermann Wilhelm Goering, Franz von Papen, Rudolf Hess and the other Nazis of importance who have been captured are dealt with speedily.

Swift conviction, imprisonment or execution would be the strongest possible lesson to the leaders of Japan that their cause is lost and might hasten their unconditional surrender.

FIRST 6 MONTHS BRING WAR HOME TO JAPAN

Okinawa that at last Americans can destroy Jap aircraft faster than Nippon can build them.

U. S. Casualties

The victory march however, was not without its price. Statistics show that in the capture of Iwo Jima, a total of 19,938 marines became casualties, and 4,189 of them were killed. Figures on Okinawa released today show that 36,580 soldiers and marines of the Tenth Army, exclusive of 8,441 navy casualties, were listed as casualties as of May 23.

Ground force casualties on Okinawa may be divided into 6,990 killed and 25,998 wounded. Among the dead was Lieut. Gen. Simon Bolivar Buckner, Jr., highest ranking ground force officer yet to fall in battle in the Pacific.

The first six months of 1945 provoked the Japs into the most desperate tactics they've yet exhibited—mass use of Kamikaze (suicide) planes, suicide airborne grenade teams that landed on American seized airstrips, suicide speed boats and even the suicidal sortie of an entire naval task force which resulted in the sinking of the Yamato off southern Kyushu at the outset of the Okinawa battle.

A special memorandum issued by Admiral Nimitz indicated, however, that nothing the Japanese could do now will stop the inexorable drive of American forces toward the unconditional surrender of Nippon.

Huge Air Attacks

It was Gen. H. H. Arnold, chief of Army Air Forces, who revealed to the committee that, before the end of the summer, we shall be capable of mounting missions of B-29's against Japan with sufficiently double the present forces. Force of 500 B-29's are flying over Japan now, almost daily, he added.

The present plan, he asserted, is to drop about 550,000 tons of bombs on Japan between V-E day and the end of 1945 and 2,700,000 tons in 1946, the latter being three times that dropped on Germany in any one year.

Marshall warned, however against any letdown in the war effort at home now that the European war is ended.

After listening to Marshall, Arnold and other military leaders, the committee voted to give the War department thirty-eight and a half billion dollars for 1946, $586,810,000 below budget recommendations.

Out of the huge sum, the greatest amount, $13,620,000,000, will go for pay and travel, with $5,770,798,000 aside for the air forces and $5,731,450,000 for the ordnance department.

of Japs elected to hold out as long as possible in caves and other hideaways. And scores of other Nips carried out the expected procedure of Japs in defeat—hara-kiri and other forms of self destruction.

Okinawa remained the costliest campaign in Pacific history for American forces.

Official figures show that 36,588 soldiers and marines of the tenth army were casualties before organized Jap resistance was crushed.

Report On Rockets

Fantastic though it sounds, United States Army ordnance experts now in France report that the Nazis did have plans to bomb this country with rocket projectiles. More than that, they say that German scientists assigned to this work might have succeeded if the war had gone on until next November.

These experts have the testimony of several hundred German technicians in support of this statement. The plans had already reached the blueprint stage. Another six months and a 3,000-mile rocket bomb might have been in production. In two more years, according to Maj. William Bromley, the Germans expected to perfect a missile that would travel 15,000 miles.

Admittedly, these German research workers were not yet ready to give the Nazis a weapon to use against the United States. But they explained that the Allied air attack on Peenemuende two years ago had set them back half a year. And they did build rockets capable of reaching Britain from launching platforms several hundred miles away.

So it is within the bounds of possibility that they might have accomplished their purpose. If they had, they could have done a great deal of damage with the missiles produced in the great underground plant American officers saw at Nordhausen, where 12,000 slave workers were employed 800 feet beneath the surface in turning out these deadly agents of destruction.

One thing is certain, and that is that the rocket has come of age as a war weapon. Its possibilities are only dimly realized, but it is a fact.

Unrest In Monarchies

A socialist and communist-led general strike is threatened in Belgium in case King Leopold attempts to return to the throne of Belgium.

A substantial segment of the Belgian population takes the position that their king has forfeited his right to the throne because of his surrender of troops to the Germans a few days after the Low Countries were invaded and for five years was a prisoner of Nazi forces, although it appears from news reports he was well treated and given unusual liberties.

The flood of opposition to Leopold, it may be surmised, stems principally from a feeling of resentment on the part of the masses that stayed at home and took all of the arrogance and tyranny their Nazi conquerors were able to ladle out during their years of supremacy. These people, many of whom comprised the underground movement, are doubtless of the opinion that their king contributed absolutely nothing to the liberation of their country and his own throne.

This reaction would be understandable even if many of the leaders of Leopold's opposition were not reds. It has been surprising that similar objection has not been made to the return to Holland of the Dutch rulers and to Norway of King Haakon, because they did not even stay in their countries to face the Germans but fled to London.

It can be argued, of course, that from Britain governments-in-exile could more effectively serve their countries than if they had stayed at home to become German prisoners, but there is a well-justified feeling in human nature that the leaders should take their medicine along with the followers.

It would not be surprising if there were not yet some drastic changes in the governmental setups of a large number of liberated countries whose monarchs at the moment are reclaiming title to their prewar status. It cannot be assured that the changes will actually be for the better, because deposed kings may be succeeded by communist dictators, but changes in several countries seem to be definitely in the wind.

The Why Of Borneo

Borneo is a steaming jungle inhabited by 3,000,000 tribesmen and 5,000 Europeans. The latter, before the Japs took over, controlled the place, the British the northwest coast and the Dutch the big remainder.

Borneo is exceeded in area only by three other islands, Australia, Greenland and New Guinea. It is nearly twice as large as Japan. Head hunters, poisonous snakes and insects, tropical diseases and stifling heat notwithstanding, it is one of the most coveted spots on the earth.

Just southwest of the Philippines, Borneo lies athwart Singapore. Hence it is strategic. Furthermore, it produces rubber and oil. Australian troops under General MacArthur now are in the process of ridding it of the Japs for these reasons.

Oil produced in the Brunei region, which once was a refueling point for the Japanese fleet, can be transported to American warships operating in the western Pacific in a fraction of the time it takes to carry it from the United States.

As the war continues, reserve supplies of natural crude rubber needed in considerable amounts for mixing with artificial rubber are becoming lower and lower. Even modest shipments from Borneo could be of major importance to Allied military industries.

Suicide Dives

The Japanese fighting men are not automatons. They have proved themselves capable of adopting innovations that few white men would accept and no American commander would order. Prominent among them are suicide attacks from the sky on American war vessels.

The white race in general puts a higher value on individual life and personality. We have had countless thousands of Americans die for their country, singly and in masses, but we do not send them deliberately to certain death for desired objectives.

The Japanese technique, which is the very essence of self-sacrifice, is one which our Army and Navy may find it difficult to check. When a Jap dives from a plane to the deck of a ship with a bomb strapped to him, something serious is apt to happen to that ship. It seems unlikely that they can long continue such unnatural procedure, but their reckless plunging from the sky is the most startling innovation of this war.

Troops arrive from Iceland just as we are all longing to go there.

It would be easier for the Japs to save face if they weren't constantly losing so much skin off their nose.

This would seem to be an ideal summer for the city farmer to get out and put some of his theories into practice.

Couldn't those other entertaining Stockholm rumors, credited to "a reliable source just returned from Berlin," be followed by news from Tokyo via a secret itinerary?

Sixty of the ninety divisions under General Eisenhower's command were American, and every Russian division had American equipment, facts which might be called to Stalin's attention at the next meeting of the Big Three.

WASHINGTON CALLING
by MARQUIS CHILDS

Trade Unionists To Help In German Policy

WASHINGTON, June 22.—The muddle of our German policy—or lack of policy—is such that it is sometimes hard to see how any sense can ever be made of it.

The latest complication grows out of the effort to determine the extent to which German labor unions can be revived, and whether political leadership can be expected from trade unionists and social Democrats in Germany. The desire is to explore the "non-communist left," to use a State department phrase, in order to find groups untainted with either Communism or Nazism.

To help carry out this policy, American trade unionists have been sent to Germany to work with Lieut. Gen. Lucius Clay, who has been named top American officer in the zone in Germany to be occupied by our troops. Chief Laborite selected thus far is Joseph B. Keenan, secretary of the AFL council in Chicago.

The reason for Keenan's selection is fairly obvious. As a vice chairman of the War Manpower commission, he worked closely with Clay when the latter was deputy to War Mobilizer James F. Byrnes. He sided frequently with Clay in controversies in which the CIO was in opposition.

But whether Keenan is equipped for the delicate assignment he presumably is to carry out is quite another matter. A building trades unionist of the old school, he knows little about Germany or the European labor movement.

Word came to Phil Murray of the CIO that Keenan was recruiting only AFL executives to go to Germany, and he promptly went to see Maj. Gen. J. H. Hilldring, chief civil affairs officer, to protest. Hilldring informed Murray that he had offered a position similar to Keenan's to one of Murray's closest associates, Clinton Golden of the CIO Steelworkers Union.

The two were to serve together as a sort of joint department of labor under Clay in the American zone. At any rate, that is the impression Murray got from Hilldring.

But Golden declined. When he was asked by Clay to go to Germany, he replied that he was convinced the Army would run the whole show in its own way and that he felt it was futile to go in the role of adviser.

Now, however, the CIO is to nominate its own men to go to our zone in Germany. Keenan has been in Europe since February. According to reports here, he wants to return to America, where a top AFL job, possibly as successor to aging John P. Frey of the Machinists Union, awaits him. But he has been prevailed upon by Clay to stay on.

With Keenan are two other Laborites: Newman Jeffrey, formerly with the United Auto Workers when Homer Martin was head of that union, and James G. McDonald, out of the AFL. These men have a curiously anomalous position. They are on the payroll of the Foreign Economic Administration, and yet they are assimilated to the Army. They wear uniforms without insignia.

At least one other labor specialist on the FEA payroll is going to Germany. This is David G. Saposs, former chief economist of the National Labor Relations Board and later chief economic adviser to the labor production division of the War Production Board. Saposs, who speaks German, has a broad knowledge of world labor movements. Charged before a House committee in 1939 with holding revolutionary views, he was dropped from the labor board when the House put in a specific provision that no part of the board's appropriation was to go to pay his salary.

In the light of the general failure to fix any workable policy for Germany, all this may seem unimportant. Yet it is important. It is symptomatic, above all, of the lack of any agreement among ourselves on a policy for Europe.

Back of this, it seems to me, is the lack of a general understanding of what our national interest in Europe is. The divisions among us cut so many different ways. The AFL-CIO split is in itself symptomatic of the factionalism which divides us, just as it illustrates the difficulties of working out policy in Germany.

These differences were obscured by the war. As is becoming increasingly evident, with final victory they cannot be ignored.

FRIENDSHIP LIMITED

How difficult on earth and grim
If we were told
No friend are we to make save him
Whose views we hold.

No friend, however brave or kind,
Of different creed!
No good in anyone to find
Who disagreed!

No friend of alien race or hue
Or faith or prayer!
Just of our own small group, a few
Our lives to share!

Charged thus, suppose in desperate need,
Alone, afraid,
One came to us of different creed
And offered aid.

What should we do, instructed so?
Unto life's end
Treat him who saved us as a foe
Or call him friend?

[illegible] table manners [illegible].

(1) When [illegible] for dinner [illegible] other diners [illegible] to dispose of bones [illegible].

Answer: (1) Most [illegible] with the [illegible] a half hour for a tardy guest [illegible].

At a large or formal dinner, ten [illegible] to wait for a guest. And the latecomer should not begin with the first course but rather with the course that the other diners are eating when he arrives. Immediately he does not make profuse apologies when he arrives, but at a later time when he sees the hostess alone he should explain why he delayed her dinner and how sorry he is.

(2) Bones or pits should be removed from the mouth one at a time with the fingers. This should be done as unobtrusively as possible. They should never be dropped from the mouth direct to the plate.

(3) Picking up fowl bones, even in these almost fowl-less days, is not done except when one is eating alone at home.

A good rule to remember is: Never do anything at the table that is offensive to other diners. And gnawing at a bone is certainly an offensive habit!

Question: When I answer my telephone is there any other form of greeting than "hello," which I think is somewhat silly?

Answer: "Hello" is the general answer in these parts. It might seem silly, but it is nevertheless the most popular greeting. You might say, "The Smith residence," which, to me, sounds stilted.

The Parent Problem
By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

COMBINE AFFECTION WITH DISCIPLINE

Yesterday we considered the need of ample family affection for fostering wholesome mental health in the growing child. Some reader probably said to himself, "What about the tot who cries when left by his mother, the mamma's-boy at 10 or even the homesick soldier at 18 or 25?" Didn't they have too much affection? No, not too much; only what they got was too much centered about one person and the child had not grown in self-reliance and responsibility, nor with satisfactions from normal play, cooperation and competition with others of his age.

So let us now consider self-reliance and responsibility in relation to mental health. That child who is unwilling to let others do for him what he can do for himself and is ready to do the job which faces him, however hard, to the best of his ability, has rich resources for enjoying good mental health.

We parents are prone to do many things for the child long past the time he can do them for himself: feed him, bathe or wash him, dress him, speak for him, choose for him, think for him. Either he will be annoyed by our doing for him or grow not only to like it but even to demand it. Denied a chance to be self-reliant in his earlier years he may suffer later from all sorts of feelings of inferiority as others disapprove or ridicule him for his helplessness.

Cultivating Self-Reliance

Now self-reliance, especially in the early years, is the stepping-stone to responsibility. Young mothers should be sure the child learns to wait on himself before you begin to assign him jobs about the home. Of course learning responsibility does not consist only of doing unpleasant chores. A child can gain tremendously in responsibility through being allowed or encouraged to do many things he can do and would like to do, such things as usually are done only by adults. For example, the older one of three [illegible] a child of twelve [illegible] prepare a family meal, and in [illegible] his own [illegible] within a definite budget.

Yet the child can acquire a keen sense of responsibility with the [illegible] the background of things he [illegible] at doing some of the distasteful jobs [illegible] about the home.

Enforced Help

Now should the parent suppose he can make these jobs so attractive that he [illegible] choose to do them [illegible]. She will have to require [illegible] to this [illegible] penalties. He [illegible] these responsibilities at home. My bulletin, "How To Teach The Child To Help At Home," may be had for a stamped envelope by addressing me at 235 East 45th Street, New York City.

Consider the hundreds of youths who enter the armed forces with [illegible]. How [illegible] And some [illegible].

When we [illegible] boys [illegible] self-reliance and responsibility. As [illegible] gained [illegible] to carry out orders and do many things they would rather not do. Who can be happy with himself when he is always running away from and putting off distasteful necessary jobs?

Veteran's Bureau Needs Man Like Bradley
Missouri General Will Find Job Tough
Must Know Answers To Weighty Questions

By HELEN ESSARY
(Central Press Columnist)

WASHINGTON, June 22.—Casting not one single aspersion on the fine achievements of the conquering generals and admirals of the armed forces of the United States, let's settle down to four and a half minutes and talk about a really hard job—the job of Veterans administrator.

The new administrator, as President Truman announced last week, is to be Gen. Omar Bradley. There is a general who IS a general, so my friends inform me. And a chore that IS a chore for the general to do.

To a civilian who hasn't been brooding over the matter, being the Veteran's administrator might have the sound of "just another appointment." Maybe a cushy kind of a role to play. Swishing about on parade days and giving orders to brass hats of lower rank and to grumbling clerks.

On the contrary, I am informed, being Veteran's administrator for the next few years is going to be about a hundred times harder than winning a big battle. There is not a single pleasant feature tacked on to the office except the all-important one of every office—the satisfaction of getting results.

Looks After Millions

Getting results in the case of the Veteran's administration means almost personally looking after the health, morals, families and means of livelihood of about 10,000,000 restless, anxious one-time fighters of World War II, World War I plus the Spanish-American war.

What kind of a fellow is this Omar Bradley, who has been handed this back-breaking task?

The new Veterans administrator is a modest man, his friends say. He never tries to dramatize himself. But he has dramatized the infantry. He's a stage manager. Not an actor. He thinks in terms of the men in his command. Not of the wonderful success he will make for himself. This rare characteristic is one of the main reasons he will make a great Veterans' administrator. He will be in the thick of things in the Veterans Bureau just as he was in the thick of things in the war. His promise to his troops on Iwo [illegible] "see you on the beaches" is regarded as one of the classic remarks of the present war.

He is a good administrator, the friends say of Gen. Omar Bradley. He is a student. He has been attending recent congressional hearings on veteran problems. He has the kind of familiar [illegible] people power. He is a simple man. He likes his old [illegible] best and gets upset if [illegible] instead of Omar. He [illegible] likes to [illegible] and loves dogs. The Army is his great passion. And he hopes [illegible] some day.

Job Requires Tact

As Veterans administrator General Bradley will need these and many more qualities. Whatever he does will be viewed critically by servicemen and civilians. Labor and capital are already in a state about the returning veterans. Is, for example, the mechanic who has been [illegible] for the [illegible] left the fighting man [illegible] out of work by the returning fighting man [illegible] to be treated as when he was fighting overseas?

But the fighting man will say, "You promised to keep my job for me when you sent me off to kill or be killed. Where is that job?"

Answering such questions will be but a small part of the problems awaiting the Veterans administration. There will be none of the secrecy with which censorship covers warfare to cloak the activities of the Veteran's administration.

In the conduct of war, headquarters, Army or Navy, may give or make a change in command or start. The public never knows what happens. But the public will know about [illegible].

[illegible] Omar Bradley [illegible] given the encouragement he didn't want the post. But the president of the United States said "Carry on, Omar." Omar, like a good soldier, obeyed. Besides, the president of the United States was one Harry Truman, another Missourian.

VIOLET RAYS

In this locality there are violet rays in sunshine at high noon.

The skin absorbs these rays and stores them up for future use. It is not necessary to expose the whole body to these rays.

Perhaps the hands and face will absorb enough of them. These violet rays are very beneficial to the body. They help to keep it in good health.

A few minutes in the open at noon is better than a longer time later in the day.

LOOKING AT LIFE
By ERICH BRANDEIS

A patent has just been issued to the inventor of a new musical instrument which consists of an electric sodium lamp or a common mercury vapor lamp, a reflector, a photo-electric cell to build up the oscillations, an amplifier and a loudspeaker, plus the polaroid screens and the necessary "motors."

The article which announced the invention took almost a column in a New York newspaper, and said all about 220 revolutions per second, 440 vibrations a second and so on and so forth.

Well, maybe this new instrument is a wonderful invention and another monument to man's scientific genius and his almost miraculous ability to make simple things complicated.

But somehow, after reading the article, I went back to a letter which I had received a couple of days ago from a lady in Long Branch, N. J., in which she expressed the wish . . .

United Nations New World Peace Charter Is Virtually Complete

By JOHN D. HANLEY
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

SAN FRANCISCO, June 22.—The new world charter of the United Nations was virtually completed Thursday.

It creates a new world organization whose goal is the maintenance of permanent world peace.

Principal branches of the organization are the security council, the general assembly, an economic and social council, and an international court of justice.

Security Council

The security council is a super-executive body composed of eleven members. Five of the members—the United States, Great Britain, Russia, France and China—will have permanent seats on the council and will have individual veto power of all enforcement and peaceful settlement decisions of the organization.

The six other members of the council will be elected for two year terms by the general assembly. Each of the 50 United Nations will be permitted five delegates to the assembly, but each nation will have only one vote in the assembly.

While the security council will be an all-powerful police department of the new organization, the general assembly will also have powerful rights. It will hear and discuss international problems and make recommendations on them to the security council.

A military staff committee with regional sub-committees will carry out any necessary orders of the security council in the maintenance of international peace.

Will Affect Millions

Perhaps more than any other branch of the new world organization, the work of the economic and social council will directly affect millions of persons throughout the world.

Its primary function will be the promotion of social progress and better standards of living so that the underlying causes of war are eliminated.

As it now stands the charter does not include a "bill of rights" for the peoples of all nations, but the codification of those rights will be one of the first subjects of business of the new organization when it meets.

The preamble of the new world charter recognizes these rights in unequivocal language. The preamble declares:

"We the peoples of the United Nations determined to save succeeding generations from the scourge of war, which twice in our lifetime has brought untold sorrow to mankind . . . reaffirm faith in fundamental human rights, in the dignity and value of the human person, in the equal rights of men and women and of nations large and small. . ."

The international court of justice, with 15 members, will decide legal disputes between nations. However, its decisions will not be binding unless the litigants accept the jurisdiction of the court.

The charter follows closely the framework outlined last year at the Dumbarton Oaks Conference of the United States, Great Britain, Russia and China; in addition it creates a trusteeship system which provides for the administration of dependent territories.

Dependent areas, under the charter, are divided into strategic and non-strategic classes.

Assignment of dependent areas to individual nations will be settled at the peace table but no administering power need place any territory under the trusteeship system unless it freely chooses to do so.

Japanese Claim Naval Forces Are Active Near Japan

SAN FRANCISCO, June 22 (INS)—The Japanese Domei agency said today that two "enemy" naval task forces were "still active" near the Sakishima Islands, southwest of Okinawa in the Ryukyus.

The Domei dispatch, as recorded by the FCC, said the task forces included five or six aircraft carriers.

Domei said Wednesday that the task forces had just appeared in the vicinity of Miyako Island, one of the Sakishima Group, the preceding afternoon. One task force, this report said, had as its "mainstay" five aircraft carriers and one battleship, while the other included three battleships.

In neither Wednesday's report nor today's did Domei disclose whether the task forces had made any effort to attack targets in the vicinity.

BODY OF BABY IS FOUND ON RAFT IN OHIO RIVER

PITTSBURGH June 22 (INS)—Allegheny county detectives today were attempting to discover some clue to the identity of the body of a small baby found drifting on a raft in the Ohio river.

The body was found by five boys playing by the riverside at Glenwillard. Allen Biggerstaff, 13, of Glenwillard, said he noticed the body on the raft and pulled the six-foot planking to the bank of the river. He told his mother who in turn notified the Glenwillard police.

Authorities established the infant's age at about two months. They theorized that it might have been set adrift on one of the tributaries of the Ohio but said that the body was so badly decomposed that it was impossible to tell whether death had been caused by violence.

cern the general organization in case they affected the peace of any other area.

However we may theorize, the one fact that cannot be evaded is that the only powers at present capable of maintaining order are the Big Three, eventually France and China may be added to this group. In the face of this fact, some sort of regional control is not only logical but inevitable. Even if not formally sanctioned, it would almost certainly develop in practice.

So far as the United States is concerned, it would seem far better to accede to this principle as applied elsewhere than to give up the Chapultepec agreement and lose the advantages of the broadened application of the Monroe Doctrine. A united western hemisphere will prove a potent factor for world peace. But we cannot expect to insist on regional control on this side of the world, without recognizing the same principle elsewhere.

And what business have we "horning in" on the affairs of the neighbors of Russia? If Russia wishes to control the peoples of Poland, Rumania, Czechoslovakia, Yugoslavia, Austria, Hungary and Bulgaria, and those neighbors of Russia are willing that such be the case, why object?

SECOND HAND SALES BOOM

PITTSBURGH, June 22—(INS)—Second hand dealers have been doing a thriving business even while the War Production Board blew its icy breath down the backs of manufacturers freezing commodities right and left.

Wash boilers were in demand, but the dealers often could supply electric irons, washing machines and radios. When the war stopped the importation of china, one dealer found himself besieged with requests for fine china and, what is more, he could usually fill the bill.

What strange people! The money, work and ingenuity that are winning the war could make our nation a paradise, but we'll never try so hard in time of peace.

Iowa Senator Will Ask Probe

Sen. Wilson Accuses War Department Of Destroying Film To Protect Private Interests

SAYS EXPLANATION IS NOT FURNISHED

By ARTHUR F. HERMAN
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, June 22.—Sen. George Wilson (R) Iowa, accused the war department Thursday of destroying "millions of feet" of educational films in order to protect private commercial interests.

Wilson declared that he will lay the matter before the Mead war investigating committee and call for a complete expose of the practice.

He asserted that the films were being destroyed, at the rate of twelve and a half million feet per week during one period in 1944, while civic organizations and educational institutions were clamoring for them to be shown as a public service.

Major "Film Scandal"

Labeling the situation a major "film scandal," the Iowa senator said his charges were based on informtaion received from his state's university and other sources. He asserted that efforts to obtain a satisfactory explanation from the war department had met with failure.

Wilson pointed out that the general practice in the film industry is to process surplus film to recover silver used in its manufacture. The recovery rate of one Hollywood studio, he said, is four cents a pound, but the war department has not chosen to recapture this money and has burned its film instead.

Wilson quoted an army official as stating that during a ten-week period in 1944, 225 tons of films had been destroyed by burning. Had the salvage process been used, Wilson said, the Army would have recovered $18,000 during this brief period.

Practice Followed

Wilson declared that the practice of burning film is followed by the Army pictorial service under the command of Maj. Gen. Harry S. Ingles.

He said this branch of the war department, according to a private investigation, not only does not seek to make these government-produced training and educational films serve the general public but they are doing everything possible to block them.

"Privately," Wilson said, "these people admit that they are afraid that the release of this material would hurt private business, though officially they use military security and lack of clearance authority as their reason."

This latter statement is used, he said, despite the fact that the great majority of these film subjects do not involve military secrets and do not contain [illegible] that are not cleared.

Wilson cited one instance in which the U. S. office of education required [illegible] war plant workers [illegible] department, he said, had a series of twenty films for the [illegible] which the education office desired to have.

He said the army refused, however, to turn over these films even to another agency of the federal government and the office of education was forced to have ten new films made by commercial producers at a cost of $60,000.

Treasury Will Seek To Collect Millions In Taxes

WASHINGTON, June 22 (INS) Secretary of Treasury Morgenthau revealed today that the treasury will try to collect "several million dollars" from six Indiana companies and individuals for alleged [illegible] and black market operations.

Morgenthau said that [illegible] million dollars in taxes and penalties is involved in the case of an Indianapolis company which "allegedly" [illegible] in black market whiskey purchases and [illegible].

While the major reported income appeared to consist of large sums of money received from black market sale of whiskey, he told a news conference "the company turned a neat bit of speculation in the purchase and sale of 10,500 cases of pineapple for a $9,000 profit and participated in a sugar diversion to the tune of $12,000 more."

Morgenthau added that this Indianapolis company "which had showed such remarkable acumen in branching out into various fields where an easy dollar could be turned" allegedly diverted the money to the personal use of the officers of the corporation."

He said that the three principals will be prosecuted on charges of evasion of corporation and individual income taxes.

Morgenthau also told about an Indiana slot machine operator who "neglected to report income totaling $35,000 over a three year period."

Sgt. M. Tommasone Gets Another Award

Sgt. Mario Tommasone, of Edenburg, has been awarded the Bronze Oak Leaf Cluster to wear with the Bronze Star, which he previously received for heroic achievement in action on February 27, 1945, in Germany.

T-4 Tommasone, attached to the 113th Field Artillery of the United States Army, was serving as a radio operator for the forward observer when he was informed that an infantryman was seriously wounded. Accompanied by an officer, he drove his vehicle through intense enemy artillery and mortar fire 1,000 yards to evacuate him.

T-4 Tommasone's coolness and courage in the face of the hostile fire reflect great credit upon himself and the armed forces of our country.

President Is Motoring To Mount Ranier

By ROBERT G. NIXON
(I.N.S. Staff Correspondent)

WITH PRESIDENT TRUMAN, Olympia, Wash., June 22.—President Truman planned to motor to towering, snowcapped Mount Ranier today and view one of the wonders of the Pacific northwest.

The chief executive is keeping his vacation at a strenuous pace. Yesterday he spent the day on Puget Sound fishing for several hours from a small rowboat. The afternoon before he drove in an open car on a 100-mile loop through the Douglas fir country.

Today's trip to the imposing snow-crested peak that towers high above Washington state's rugged mountain ranges was scheduled to take up most of the day. The presidential party, including Governor Mon C. Wallgren of Washington, will leave Olympia at 10 a. m., returning in the early evening.

Stay Until Monday

The president will stay in Olympia until Monday morning when he will fly to San Francisco for the closing session of the United Nations conference on Tuesday. He scheduled a two-hour stopover en route at Portland, Ore. He will leave at 10 a. m. arriving in Portland at 11, and leaving for San Francisco at 1 p. m. to arrive there at 4 p. m.

Yesterday morning, after a news conference in which he promised early solution of the nation's food shortage problems and ruled out any further cabinet changes at this time, the president boarded the U. S. fisheries cutter Brant and went fishing in Puget Sound.

The results were meager: the president and Governor Wallgren each caught a dogfish.

The salmon weren't biting the presidential hook.

However, a group of luckier fishermen presented the president two beautiful 15-pound silver salmon.

Rock Is Hurled Into Windshield

MERCER, June 22.—Lee Crispin, Erie, driver for the Valley Motor Freight Company, reported to State Police at the Mercer sub-station that a large rock had been thrown through his windshield at 10:20 p. m., Wednesday as he was enroute from New Wilmington to Mercer.

The stone shattered the lower right corner of the glass.

Crispin told police he was hauling government merchandise. County Detective A. C. Barnes and state police started an investigation this morning.

PITTSBURGH (INS)—Police have been looking for the ambitious thief who stole a Greyhound bus from the company's parking lot and then abandoned it after finding the vehicle was rather hard to hide.

Fifty Restaurants In Washington Are Facing Investigation On Red Points

By MARTHA KEARNEY
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, June 22—The OPA war against steak palaces, which will involve investigation of the red point transactions of the nation's 500,000 restaurants, is in full swing today in an attempt to put meat back on the housewife's table.

The opening gun in the war which has been buidling up for many months, was fired in the District of Columbia where 50 restaurants found themselves facing suspension of their right to buy red point foods.

OPA charged that point and ration irregularities enabled the restaurants to serve their patrons with steaks, other meats, cheeses and other red point foods.

Chief OPA enforcement attorney for the district, Carl Berueffy, warned at the same time that 50 more local restaurants would face similar charges within a few days.

All-Out Drive

OPA's action in Washington presages an all-out drive throughout the United States to check restaurant compliance with meat regulation in an attempt to keep the balance meat purchases by housewives and by hotels and restaurants.

While no real relief from the meat shortage is expected before September, OPA officials are hopeful that the check-up on red point transactions of restaurants will channel more of the available meat to housewives.

Inauguration of the OPA investigation was prefaced by the hiring of 500 extra-trained investigators to help regular OPA investigators to carry on the work.

OPA officials said that they are investigating three types of alleged violations.

1. The use of points—especially detached points—other than those issued by war price and rationing boards.

2. The filing of false statements in order to obtain more red points than the number to which the restaurant is entitled.

3. Having overdrafts against ration bank accounts.

An official characterized the intensive investigation as "the most concerted effort we've ever undertaken against restaurant violations."

Asparagus grows as much as six inches in a day. It must be picked every day quickly because it grows so fast in warm weather. Stalks a few inches above the ground at daybreak must be picked by noon or they become too tough and coarse to make the best quality.

DETROIT, June 22.—(INS)—The CIO-AFL row over jobs which has closed one Detroit factory, stopped a $4,500,000 reconversion project and has idled more than 20,000 workers today had assumed national proportions, the Detroit Times said.

The Times quoted a source close to the U. S. Department of Labor as revealing that high AFL officials have refused to talk peace with the CIO, unless terms are made on a national basis.

The publication quotes a high ranking member of the AFL national executive board as saying "if and when we negotiate with the UAW-CIO it will be on a national basis and under no circumstances limited to the Detroit area."

Truman Says Food Difficulties To Be Ironed Out

By ROBERT G. NIXON
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

OLYMPIA, Wash., June 22.—President Truman held his first news conference away from the White House Thursday and promised the nation that its war time food difficulties will be ironed out shortly.

The president then boarded a navy cutter to go salmon fishing in Puget Sound.

The chief executive, wearing a heavy wool sweater, knitted by the Siwash Indians on Vancouver Island, talked with correspondents in the office of Gov. Mon C. Wallgren, just before leaving for a fishing trip and cruise.

He held a fast-paced conference, in which he not only promised that the food situation will be solved just as soon as his new food administrator, Rep. Clinton P. Anderson, takes over his new cabinet post as secretary of agriculture, but also declared he knew nothing of reports that Secretary of Interior Harold L. Ickes would resign.

No Cabinet Changes

Further, the president declared that he anticipated no cabinet changes now, and again blasted down reports that he would shift Secretary of State Stettinius from his cabinet post to London as ambassador.

The president also said that Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower is returning to Europe shortly to finish, as the president phrased it, his job in Germany.

Mr. Truman said the allied supreme commander-in-chief deserves any assignment that he may want. He praised him not only as a soldier but as an able diplomat.

"How long do you anticipate this job will take him in Germany?" the president was asked.

He said he didn't know. That, he added, is one of the many important things to be settled at the "big three" conference.

To Aid Highway Plans

He promised to do everything possible to see that the Alaska highway to Fairbanks is completed as a joint American-Canadian post-war project, and he praised Senate action in passing the trade agreements act.

"The action of the Senate in approving the legislation to renew and strengthen the trade agreements act is indeed gratifying," he asid in a formal statement.

"The revitalization of this act places the United States squarely behind the principles of international trade cooperation which must prevail in the interests of world peace and economic well-being.

"Trade cooperation, however, must go hand in hand with monetary and financial cooperation.

"I am confident that the Senate will also take favorable action on the Bretton Woods legislation dealing with closely related subjects."

Terrific Rain Storm Forces Show To Halt

PHILADELPHIA, June 22.—(INS)—Old Jupe Pluvius was the victor today despite a hard-fought battle with circus attendants who tried to uphold tradition that "the show must go on".

Acts under the big top of the Ringling Brothers-Barnum & Bailey circus had been underway an hour in Philadelphia last night when the skies opened up in a violent and torrential electrical storm.

The performers kept on uninterrupted, but eventually the tent began to leak and sag from the weight of the water. Men with knives were sent up on ropes and trapezes to cut holes in the top, letting water cascade down on spectators.

The water pouring through the top finally forced a halt to the performance as the big elephant act was on. Spectators, however, could not leave the main tent because the circus grounds were flooded, and the ankle-deep mud marooned them for more than an hour.

Another 12,000 music lovers at the Robin Hood Dell, Fairmount Park open air auditorium, were just settling back in their seats to hear Baritone Wilbur Evans sing "My Blue Heaven" when the rain began, and forced the show to halt.

French missionaries visited French Indo-China as early as the eighteenth century.

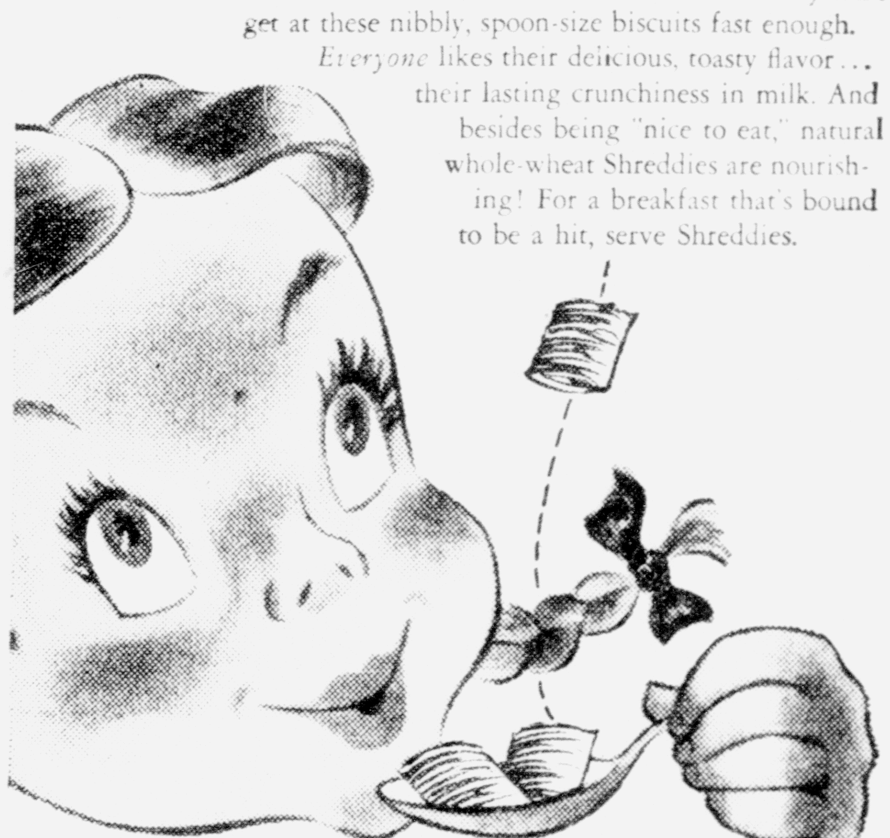

HARRISBURG — The state commerce department suggested trees be planted as living memorials to Pennsylvania's war heroes. "As memorials of the historic deeds of our time, such plantings may well outlive the changing fashions in statues of bronze and stone" the department stated.

PHILADELPHIA — Zoo officials apparently have a new method of persuading errant monkeys to return to their cages. When one escaped from the zoo and perched on a house roof, officials advised occupants to "keep cool" because the monkey would probably come home.

BEECHWOOD — Adolph Hitler may have had the German people in the palm of his hand but he feared them none the less because his Mercedes-Benz automobile had a special inch-and-a-half thick glass windshield and sidewings as a protection against bullets, according to Pfc. Joseph J. Sullivan.

Resurfacing Of Washington St. Is Being Started

Resurfacing of Washington street got under way today when employes of a contracting firm started operations on West Washington street near Sankey street. Resurfacing will proceed east until Croton avenue is reached. This job is but one which the state highway will do this summer.

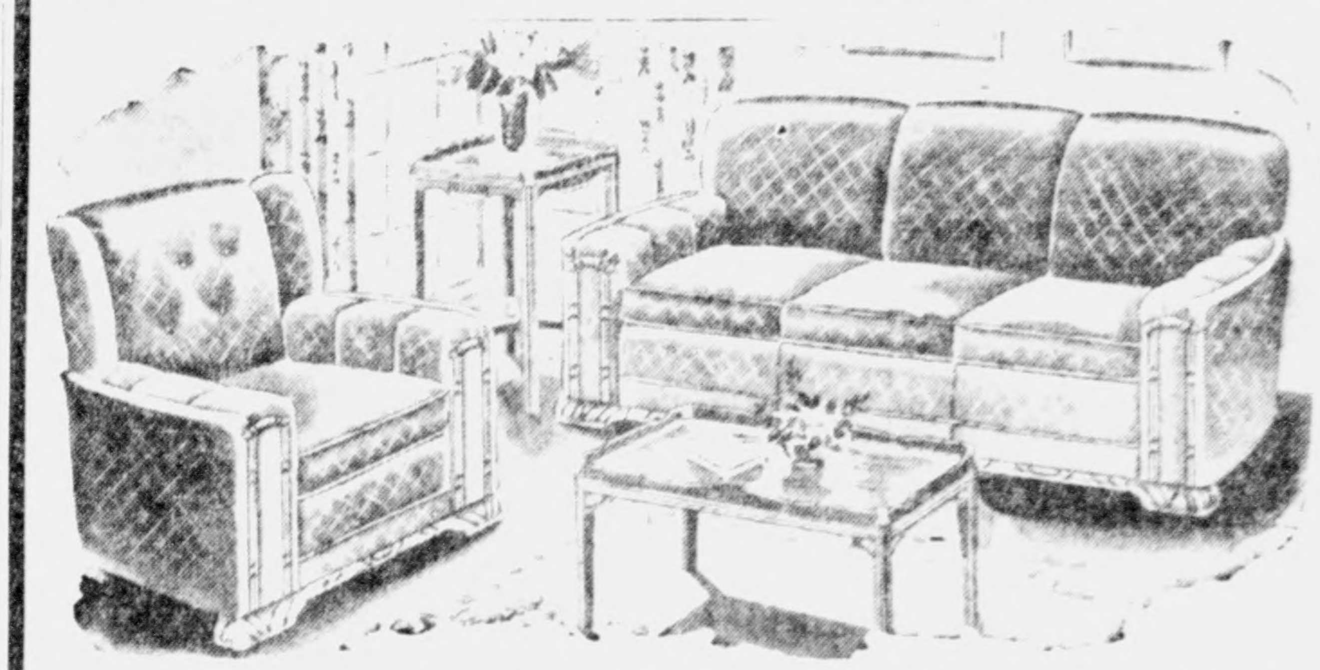

Other jobs will be Moravia street between Long avenue and the city line, North Jefferson street between Washington and Grant streets and also North Mill street and Highland avenue. On the latter streets a one-inch top will be laid, the thoroughfare which was resurfaced last year having been badly damaged by winter weather.

The contracting firm already has put down a base in Ray street preparatory to resurfacing and finished a small section of County Line street which was on the 1944 program but which could not be done last year according to officials.

Denmark To Help Feed U. S. Troops

May Supply Butter, Eggs And Bacon To Occupation Forces In Europe

WASHINGTON, June 22.—(INS)—An agreement whereby Denmark will supply large amounts of bacon, butter and eggs to Anglo-American occupation forces in Europe and to the continent's western population today is under negotiation.

Eastern European nations will not share in the food stocks because transportation facilities are not available to move food, it was said.

Successful negotiation is expected to ease slightly demands on the American army for these items already in short supply.

The talks have been going on for the United States by officials of the Foreign Economic Administration.

Surpluses Piled Up

Denmark always Europe's pantry for dairy items was found on liberation to be better off agriculturally than had been anticipated.

The Germans appear to have maintained production there in order to meet their own food needs. Toward the end of the war the transport system was so disrupted that some surpluses piled up in the country.

Even now, however, disrupted transport systems, particularly in France, will hamper distribution of the supplies, officials said. Britain will be somewhat better off because of her rail lines, though overworked during the war, are undamaged.

Washington officials said that the nations which will benefit from the supplies will pay for them since all those of western Europe have either gold or foreign exchange with which to meet the bill.

GET READY TO BATTLE SNOW

HARRISBURG, June 22.—(INS)—Secretary of Highways John U. Shroyer is not a man to allow plans for combatting snow and ice to be sidetracked by sizzling summer temperatures.

He probably felt cool when he announced today that the department was ready to purchase snow fighting equipment valued at $1,086,000 for delivery this fall. Twenty tractors, 45 trucks and 197 plows will be bought.

Cancel Huge Meat Shipment To Soviet Russia

SEATTLE, June 22.—(INS)—The War Food Administration has canceled plans to ship 300 million pounds of meat to Russia in the next three months, the Seattle Post-Intelligencer said Thursday.

At the same time, the newspaper said, the WFA canceled shipments totaling 35 million pounds of meat for Great Britain. The meat was scheduled for delivery in July, August and September.

The Post-Intelligencer said it has learned from packers that 300 million pounds of meat had been lend-leased to Russia and 25 million to England last April, May and June. It said that lend-lease authorities "never disclosed the detailed quantities or dollar values of meat exports."

The newspaper quoted what it called the federal "government's own figures" to show that Russia received 907 million pounds of meat and meat products from the United States last year.

Some 312 million pounds were sent to Russia in the first four months of this year, it reported.

Packers said most of their pork this spring and last fall went into Tushonka, a canned meat product of which about 1,000,000 pounds was packed at Carstens' Tacoma plant. In the last year Russia has received 290 million pounds of Tushonka, according to the story.

Reveals Plans Of Germans For Third World War

WASHINGTON, June 22.—(INS)—Sen. Harley M. Kilgore (D) W. Va., on Thursday made public documents revealing German plans for the preservation of the famous Krupp Arm Works and other major industries in preparation for World War Three.

With the action of the War department, Kilgore disclosed circumstances of a meeting of principal German industrialists in Strasbourg, France, on August 10, 1944, when they were informed that Germany had lost the war and that plans must be laid for a postwar campaign.

Discloses Program

Kilgore also disclosed the program for the planned "de-Nazification" of the huge Krupp munitions combine, including its return to "private" ownership, severance of known Nazis from its management and an attempt to discredit its officials by throwing them into concentration camps.

At the Strasbourg meeting, the German industrial leaders were instructed to "make contacts and alliances with foreign firms, but this must be done individually and without attracting any suspicion."

The industrialists were also informed that German restrictions on the export of capital would be lifted for them so that they could preserve the companies by depositing money in other countries.

Outlines Nazi Plan

Kilgore made the information public as he announced the beginning of a week of preliminary, fact-finding hearings by the war mobilization subcommittee of the Senate Military committee on the economic base for German aggression.

Kilgore outlined what he said was the Nazi plan:

1. The Krupp works recently were returned to "private" ownership, in the hope that under conventional international law the Allies might not touch them.

2. Anticipating that private ownership might not be enough, the Nazis banned all party officials from holding any official or managerial position in the Krupp concern.

3. As a further safeguard, Germans reported that Gustav Krupp, head of the great combine and the man who helped bring Hitler into power, was arrested for defeatist utterances on several occasions.

CONSTRUCTION HALTED

CLEVELAND, O., June 22.—(INS)—Leroy L. Helper, Tarentum, Pa., contractor, was prohibited today by a War Production Board order from completing three structures in Tarentum on which he was working.

The War Production Board said Helper had admitted that costs of the two residential and one commercial buildings were in excess of that permitted under WPB regulations. Helper, the WPB said, can not complete the construction unless specifically authorized by the board.

The work was located on Freeport road, Tarentum.

BAKED GOODS SCARCE

PITTSBURGH, June 22.—(INS)—The threat of an increased cut in sugar rations, coupled with a growing problem in finding shortening, has made baked goods scarce in the steel city.

War Bond Exhibit Will Show French How Job Is Done

WASHINGTON, June 22.—(INS)—Treasury Secretary Morgenthau announced today that at the invitation of French Finance Minister Rene Plevin, the Treasury is sending a war bond exhibit "to show the French people how a democracy finances a war."

The exhibit, slated to reach Paris the first week of July, will include war bonds songs and movies translated into French and sample U. S. bonds.

Morgenthau said the illustration of American techniques following Nazi occupation of France would be "refreshing."

Great Britain, Russia and China will also send France war bond exhibits, the secretary stated.

He did not disclose the names of the Treasury representatives expected to accompany the American exhibit.

S-Sgt. David Dicks Wins Bronze Star

Maj. Gen. Horace L. McBride, commanding general of the 80th Infantry Division, announces that S-Sgt. David A. Dicks of 632 South Ray street, recently was awarded the Bronze Star for heroic achievement in Germany on April 10.

Company F of the 318th Infantry of the United States Army, the company of which S-Sgt. Dicks served as a squad leader, received heavy machine gun fire from a building near Erfurt, Germany, that had been by-passed. With the platoon sergeant and three other volunteers, the New Castle man attacked the enemy-held house and was met by fire from three machine guns and several rifles. While two men fired on the enemy and drew their fire, the other three rushed to the building, hurled grenades through the windows and retreated to cover. After repeating this process several times, the group found eight of the enemy dead, six wounded and took captive the remainder, comprising a machine gun platoon.

The aggressive courage and sincere devotion to duty displayed by S-Sgt. Dicks exemplify the highest traditions of the armed forces of the United States.

Babson Gives Views On Postwar Tax Prospects

By ROGER W. BABSON
(Copyright, 1945, Publishers Financial Bureau, Inc.)

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 22—The past week I have been trying to make an intelligent forecast of the prospects to reduced Federal taxes after Japan collapses which should be within [illegible] months. This is a summary of my conclusions.

The average investor little realizes what tremendous sums corporations are penalized by excess profits tax. In many cases these excess profits taxes amount to more than stockholders receive in dividends. In fact, at one time double or perhaps triple. If these were suddenly eliminated after Japan collapses, some companies could double or triple their dividends. Yet in all probability this will not happen, especially if company earnings fall off materially.

I am sure that the excess profits taxes will not be cut off altogether and corporations will be lucky if they are cut in half within a year after Japan collapses. My present belief is that these excess profits taxes will gradually be reduced as the earnings of companies gradually decline during the postwar period. The general purpose of such a tax program would be to keep corporation net earnings about where they are today without giving them the advantage of peace, but preventing them from being penalized by the falling off of war business.

Normal Taxes

Normal corporation taxes before the war were 20 per cent. Then they were hiked up to 40 per cent at which they are at present. My feeling is that there will be a compromise at 30 per cent and perhaps stabilization at this figure for some time. This would be a fair thing to do if excess profits taxes are eliminated. These excess profits taxes are what are causing the trouble and may be a real factor in causing unemployment. Congressmen should insist that these excess profits taxes are eliminated as soon as possible with a fair compromise on normal taxes.

Some of the remaining New Dealers in the administration are talking about the entire elimination of corporation taxes and putting all the tax burden on individuals after they receive their dividends. Their theory is that with the present high corporation taxes the small investor is taxed on his careful savings the same as is the multi-millionaire. Hence they would let all dividends come through from the corporation without taxation and then tax these dividends as they are received by individuals. The small investor would then pay only, say, a 20 per cent tax, while the millionaire would pay a 90 per cent tax.

Political Considerations

President Truman is an honest man. Furthermore, he is thrifty and sincerely hopes to balance the budget before he runs again for office in 1948. He can so balance the budget only by keeping up taxation. Hence I am not as optimistic as some of my friends in believing that there will be radical tax reductions after Japan collapses. "We should hope for the best, but prepare for the worst." At least this is my conclusion at the present time. The only possible exception is in the case of corporations whose stock at market prices represents actual cash invested. There may be exemptions to the extent that the book values of corporations and the actual cash invested are represented in the assets.

Finally, let it be remembered that although President Truman is both honest and thrifty, he has been well-trained in the school of politics. Although he may turn neither to the right nor to the left, yet he may perform that acrobatic feat which the tight-rope walker with the long pole performs at the circus. Instead of following any one pressure group, he will throw a few crumbs to each pressure group. This means when it comes to taxes that all forms of taxes—excess profits, normal corporation, individual and so-called "nuisance" taxes—may all be reduced proportionately "giving every dog a little bite".

Baruch Has Plan To Halt German War 'Comeback'

By ARTHUR F. HERMANN
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, June 22.—Bernard M. Baruch, adviser of presidents, today proposed a 14-point program for the control of Germany designed to keep that defeated nation from ever attempting a "third try" at world conquest.

Baruch made his statement as the first witness before a house senate military committee investigation into the economic base for German aggression.

He solemnly warned that unless the European allies find a common policy to control Germany's economy, "we face the certainty that Germany will make a third try to conquer the world."

Must Be Eliminated

Baruch declared that this time Germany's war making potential must be eliminated. He advocated the dispersal of German plants and factories, construction of heavy industries, the dismemberment of the Junkers estate, strict control of her imports and exports, and a "rooting out" of her business organization assets throughout the world.

The man who mobilized America's industries for the first world war urged that one of the first steps which the allies should take is a definite settlement of what is to be done with Germany. He praised Gen. Eisenhower as a man well equipped to administer the United States portion of occupied Germany but added:

"Give him an agreed upon policy. Don't handicap him."

At the same time, Baruch set forth a plan for the "streamlining" of the United States government to unity all of the many deep problems and policies which it will be called upon to formulate in the very near future.

Under "Top Group" Direction

He proposed that all government agencies dealing with peace matters be placed under the direction of a "top group" or "council" which would act as a clearing house for recommendations to the president.

"I believe we can arrive at a full understanding with the Soviet," Baruch said. But he added with his usual candor, "if it is not possible, the sooner we know it the better."

He stressed that any cooperation with Russia should be a "two-way street".

"I would like to see this simple rule laid down," he said. "What we permit the Russians to do, they permit us to do. There should be a free look-see for all the United Nations throughout Europe."

As a part of his program of the establishment of a "sure" peace, Baruch called for the development of a "positive" American foreign economic policy. This he said should include bringing tariffs, monetary agreements, foreign credit, cartel and all other matters into a coherent whole.

Baruch declared that the United States must be prepared for a long military occupation of Germany and must expect that the citizens of that nation will suffer hunger and want until they can be readjusted to peacetime economy.

Delay Action On Proposal Of Succession

WASHINGTON, June 22.—(INS)—The senate elections committee today postponed action for a week on President Truman's proposal to revise the line of succession to the presidency to "await further light" on the subject.

Sen. Green (D) R. I., chairman, said the committee discussed the bill of Bridges (R) N. H., which embodies the president's suggestion that the house speaker be put next in line to take over the presidency when there is no vice president when a president dies.

Will Confer With Truman

Green did not amplify this statement, but it is expected that as soon as the president returns to Washington, administration senators will confer with him about the legislation.

Bridges, ranking minority members of the elections committee, agreed to the delay, Green said.

Thus the New Hampshire senator said he will make an all-out fight against any effort to sidetrack or delay the bill.

Bridges' proposal follows exactly the pattern asked by the president. It would put the house speaker, followed by the senate president, at the top of the line to take over the presidency if there were no vice president. The secretary of state and other cabinet officers would follow.

Democratic coolness toward the proposal is apparent in the senate. Most party leaders have no public comment. Privately, they said that they think a change is unnecessary. Under existing law, they said, a president, when there is no vice president, is able to make his own choice of a potential successor in naming his secretary of state.

Some Democratic senators questioned whether the fact that the speaker heads the numerically largest body justifies putting him ahead of the senate president in the line of succession.

Garden Council Has June Meeting

County Council Adopts Constitution; Howard Butler Speaks On 'Nut Trees'

Lawrence County Garden Council met Thursday evening at the garden center in the public library with representatives of nine garden clubs present.

Constitution of the organization was presented by Mrs. R. W. Lamoree, president of the recently organized council, and was adopted by the group.

It was decided to continue monthly flower displays in the garden center to be sponsored by individual clubs each month. Harlansburg Garden club will be in charge of the July exhibit.

Planting at Deshon annex grounds which is progressing nicely will be continued.

Third Thursday of each month at 7:30 was decided on as the day and time of regular meetings.

Speaker of the evening was Howard Butler of Mt. Jackson, who subject was "Nut Trees" and told which kind are most suitable to this vicinity. Pennsylvania could be famous for its black walnut trees, he said, if sufficient plantings were made as of all nut trees they do best in this soil and climate. He suggested the variety Thomas. For filberts he suggested the [illegible].

Next meeting of the council will be Thursday, July 19, at 7:30 p. m. in the garden center.

PRAISES AMERICAN TANKS

NEW YORK.—(INS)—Army service forces reports a German cavalry general, recently captured by American troops, told his captors of his amazement when he watched between 60 and 80 American tanks advance against his positions at full speed across spongy, wet ground such as German Tiger tanks would have approached slowly and gingerly. Not a single American tank bogged down. German tanks, he observed, only too frequently bogged down even on a road.

HARRISBURG, June 22.—Former U. S. Attorney General Francis Biddle has been mentioned in political circles as a possible candidate for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination next year.

The 59-year-old Democrat has been active in federal service since 1935 when he was chief counsel for a committee investigating the Tennessee valley authority and has been attorney general since 1941.

Born in Paris, Biddle is a resident of the fashionable main line in Philadelphia. He attended the Groton, Mass., preparatory school and was graduated Cum Laude from Harvard University in 1909.

Members of the House and Senate Appropriations committees have been invited by Edwin Cox, head of the Philadelphia department of docks, wharves and ferries, to make a one-day inspection cruise on the Delaware river. The trip, planned for "sometime after July 4," was reportedly promoted by Sen. Leroy Chapman, R. Warren, chairman of the Senate committee, to enable lawmakers to see what improvements were needed for the Quaker City port. The general assembly appropriated $290,000 for biennial port maintenance and $1,000,000 for a post-war improvement program under the supervision of the post war planning commission. The latter sum will be shared also by the ports of Erie, Pittsburgh and Chester.

Temperance forces made small gains in the local option elections on primary day but while the area under the dry wing was expanded, the net effect upon the population was negligible because all of the political sub-divisions voting liquor or beer sales were in rural sections.

Mild Sentences May Have Aided Polish Situation

WASHINGTON, June 22—(INS) Consultations on the formation of a new Polish government going on in Moscow today are regarded by interested Washington diplomats as greatly aided by the mild Soviet sentences imposed on Polish underground leaders.

It was noted that, in view of the nature of the offenses charged, the penalties might readily have included death sentences for some. The fact that several pleaded guilty and Moscow's care that the trials be fully witnessed and publicized is believed by others to indicate that the proceedings may have been part of a "deal."

It was regarded as probable that the trials, as well as arrangements for setting up a new Polish regime were arranged by Harry Hopkins during his recent mission to Moscow as President Truman's personal envoy.

If so, however, he carefully refrained from telling any officials of the State Department. In fact, he gave the general impression that he had not even learned the identities of the men being held, or whether they were alive or dead.

May Seek To Form Belgian Cabinet

BRUSSELS, June 22—(INS)—Former Prime Minister Paul Van Zeeland, powerful Catholic party leader, may form a cabinet at the request of King Leopold III, according to reports circulated today among influential Brussels political chiefs.

Reports that Van Zeeland might return to power highlighted a day of intense political activity in which agents of the king sought to line up leading Belgians to serve in a new government.

King Leopold remained in Salzburg where he is recovering from illness contracted while a prisoner of the Germans.

There was no indication he was wavering in his determination to return to the throne despite bitter opposition of communist, socialist and liberal leaders.

More Gasoline For Fishermen

Increase Gas Allotments For Fishermen Using Inboard Motor Boats

WASHINGTON, June 22.—(INS)—OPA Administrator Chester Bowles announced Wednesday that quarterly gasoline rations for inboard motor boats used for fishing parties have been increased from 125 gallons to 1,200 gallons in a move designed to aid the nation's food supply.

Bowles also disclosed that quarterly limitations for personally-operated boats will be increased from 24 to 36 gallons for inboards and from 10 to 15 gallons for outboards.

Not All Boats

He emphasized, however, that all boat owners will not receive the new maximum rations since individual allotments will still be computed on the basis of two gallons per horse power for inboard motors and two and one-half gallons per horse power for outboards.

The new gasoline increases are similar to the increases being given all A book car owners on Friday, June 22.

Boats used for pleasure or hunting parties will receive their October 1, 1944, maximum limitations. This provides 125 gallons quarterly for inboards and 20 gallons quarterly for outboards, subject to the horsepower limitations. The previous ceilings were 24 and 10 gallons, respectively.

Under the new order outboard motorboats used for fishing parties will get only a maximum of 20 gallons every three months at the rate of two and one-half gallons per horse power. Bowles said that outboard motorboats are less useful than inboard craft for large-scale fishing.

We haven't outgrown snobbery. One air unit has enlisted men pilots who have rescued many officers but can't enter an officers' club.

Golfing Greats Play At Detroit

DETROIT, June 22.—(INS)—Golf's greatest spectacle will open in Detroit today with the big four tournament at Plum Hollow and the invitational at Red Run.

Heading the cast of links greats will be Byron Nelson, Harold (Jug) McSpaden, Craig Wood and Sam Byrd, Detroit pro. They will play a 36-hole team match Sunday with Byrd and Wood teaming against Nelson and McSpaden.

As an added attraction the "big four" will meet in medal play for the 72 holes, thus creating a "battle within a battle".

Women Prepare For Track Meet

HARRISBURG, June 22.—(INS)—Two outstanding feminine athletic teams were scheduled today to participate in the 23rd annual amateur athletic union's track and field meet for women at Harrisburg June 30.

Earl Flickinger, meet director, said the German-American athletic club of Brooklyn had entered a seven-member team including champion hurdler Nancy Cowperthwaite. The Cleveland Olympic Club also signified that it would compete.

The Cleveland Club, headed by the dynamic Stella Walsh, will have among its entries Frances Gorn, 1943 shot put and discus champion, Flickinger said. More than 100 athletes were expected to participate.

Favor Green To Defeat Zivic

NEW YORK, June 22.—(INS)—Hal Green, Brooklyn youngster, was an 8 to 5 favorite to defeat Fritzie Zivic of Pittsburgh, former welterweight champion of the world, in their ten-round bout at Madison Square Garden tonight.

Green is undefeated in 24 bouts since being discharged from the army. It is the 198th professional fight for Corporal Zivic.

Zaharias-Germain Probably Finalists

INDIANAPOLIS, June 22.—(INS)—"Babe" Didrikson Zaharias of Los Angeles and Dorothy Germain of Philadelphia appeared headed today for a repeat performance of their tussle last year for the women's western open golf championship.

Either conceivably could be disappointed in their ambition to battle it out again for two obstacles were in their paths, neither lightly to be ignored.

SPOTLIGHT Of Today

(International News Service)

GEN. STILWELL

Appointment of Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell as commander of the U. S. 10th Army affords the hard-pressed Japanese war lords no comfort and no indication as to details of what is to follow the conquest of Okinawa.

"Vinegar Joe" is an ideal choice if his new command eventually takes him to the mainland of China. He has a thorough knowledge of China and the Chinese gained while he was chief of staff to Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek and as commander of U. S. Forces in the China-Burma-India theatre.

But differences of opinion between Stilwell and Chiang resulted last fall in Vinegar Joe's return to the United States and appointment as chief of the army ground forces, a domestic training job. His falling out with Chiang plus the fact that the 10th Army needs rest and replenishment after the gruelling Okinawa campaign appear to preclude any early invasion of the Asiatic mainland by the men of Vinegar Joe's new command.

But wherever he and his men go, Americans and the Japanese enemy can be sure the Japs are due for a licking. For Vinegar Joe, even at 63, is a man of action.

In addition, he is out for revenge—revenge for the "hell of a licking" the Japanese gave him three years ago when they drove him and his pitifully inadequate forces out of Burma.

No matter how you look at the Stilwell appointment from the Japanese point of view, it spells trouble.

NEW CASTLE NEWS SPORTS

WE'VE BEEN watching events and writing reports for a long time and during the several decades we've discovered that not only in sports but other endeavors, truth is stranger than fiction. According to a reliable source, Ripley once refused to employ a sword-swallower in his "Believe it or not" show because he thought people would believe there was a trick to it. However, there isn't and the sword-swallower finally became a featured performed with his attraction. Today we have occasion to write about a bird oddity, one that sounds like a "bird of a yarn" but Weaver Fessler, Norwood avenue resident, reports: "It is true. I saw the bird performing the feat." We were so amazed that in the not far distant future we're going to visit the place and seek a demonstration. Here's the report.

Last week Weaver Fessler, visited a relative who is a friend of the writer—Art Ellis, owner of Hidden Lake, near Hartstown. It is a duck and fish refuge. The body of water is about 400 acres in size. Fessler went there to rest and fish. One night last week Fessler remarked to Art: "I believe I'll go get some worms to catch a few fish." Ellis smiled but told Weaver to wait for Ellis Zimmerman, a cousin of Art's. Along came Zimmerman and with him a tame robin! Weaver repeated he would go get some worms. "Don't need to. Just sit where you are the robin will catch 'em," Zimmerman stated.

Zimmerman arose, procured a can then placed his pet robin on the ground. He returned to the porch where Ellis and Weaver were seated. "The Robin will get all the worms we need," said Zimmerman. Fessler reports the robin stood still, listened and within a moment or more hopped quickly and plucked a worm from the ground, hopped back to the can and in which it deposited the worm. The robin repeated this time and again. Soon the can was practically filled with choice worms, according to Fessler. We smiled when he told us the story and he asserted: "I know you do not believe me, but I swear it is true. I was there. I seen it."

Ellis Zimmerman is a cousin of Art Ellis. Fessler is relative of both. Having a sportsman's acquaintanceship with Art Ellis, we're going to travel to his Hartstown cottage some of these days and we're going to stay until evening. We do not doubt Mr. Fessler's word but we would like to know what kind of a man this Ellis Zimmerman is. If he can train a robin to become a pet then train his pet bird to catch his fishing worms one of the worries of fishermen is over. There is no questioning that many anglers throughout the country would be gladly pay well for a pet robin that can catch worms and so well educated the bird deposits 'em in a can.

Ellis told Weaver that the muskrat yield was not so hot during the cold spell. Storms were so severe he had difficulty getting around the lake. Usually Ellis bags several thousand muskrats each winter at Hidden or Mud Lake as some call it. Weaver said he rowed around the lake saw a lot of bass, perch and trout jumping after bugs but only a few bullhead could be tempted. He said he did not see any of the famous swamp rattlers for which the place reportedly is well known. Having had Weaver tell us the story and we have no cause to doubt his story excepting to remark "Amazing!" We're going there to see this oddity ourselves and will report to our sport reading clientele.

Some weeks ago the living memorial problem was before the public but apparently it is in a lull. Why not a big stadium for a living memorial? At present the city has Taggart stadium but it is not for the use of all the public. At present there is not a first class open air place here where all open air events may be properly conducted. There is not one enclosed place and an enclosed stadium is needed. It should be so laid out that there would be an auditorium of sufficient size to accommodate at least 5,000. Who would pay for it? At present industry and business can make appropriations or donations, if that is what you care to call it and have said donations deducted from taxation. Uncle Sam would lose this amount in taxation but in return would gain thousands of healthy young men and women and right now a healthy young man and woman is priceless to the winning of the war.

Some of the Uppers who are constantly telling us little fellows: "We're for a bigger and better New Castle" might couple action to words. There is no city better than New Castle and no better citizens anywhere, hence citizens would co-operate. There is harmony in all ranks here. Why not start something while harmony reigns? If one waits a year or two to put over the living memorial idea (stadium or something else) they may Youth a $5,000 or $10,000 bill, may find it impossible because of changed find that the certain people who would like to hand Mr. Stadium for Our laws.

Yanks Shellack Dave Ferriss In 14 To 4 Contest

Ferriss Driven From Mound In Fifth Inning, Tigers Win From Indians

By LES CONKLIN
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, June 22.—The legend of Dave Ferriss, the incredible rookie pitching sensation of the Boston Red Sox, was shattered today.

The ex-Army corporal, who won his first eight starts this year and has captured nine of his ten starts, finally got his lumps yesterday in a manner which left practically nothing to the imagination.

In the fifth inning of their game with the Red Sox, the New York Yankees shelled "Boo" off the hill and went on to score no less than 13 runs during the inning. This was the largest single-inning total amassed since the 1920 Yanks piled up 14 runs during one frame.

Ferriss Shelled

The Yanks clubbed the freshman star for 10 runs before he was driven to the showers. It was the first time Dave had been knocked out of the box. In the big inning, they batted around before he could get a man out.

New York won the ball game, 14 to 4, but failed to gain on the Detroit Tigers, who conquered Cleveland 5 to 1 behind Frank Overmire's seven-hit pitching.

The Athletics and Senators were rained out, while the White Sox and Browns were not scheduled.

Dodgers Pad Lead

In the National league, the Brooklyn Dodgers put on a five-run rally in the eighth inning to swamp the Phillies, 9 to 2.

However, the Dodgers failed to gain on their closest rivals, the Chicago Cubs and the St. Louis Cardinals. The Cubs shaded Pittsburgh, 5 to 4, while the Cards blanked Cincinnati 4 to 0.

The Pirates flopped all the way from second place to fourth in the senior circuit. They got only seven hits off Hank Wyse, pitching his last game for the Cubs before being inducted into the Army.

The Cards won behind the brilliant hurling of Blix Donnelly, who held the Reds to five hits.

The New York Giants and Boston Braves were not scheduled.

Fair Or Foul

By LAWTON CARVER
(International News Service Sports Editor)

NEW YORK, June 22.—Fritzie Zivic walked into the saloon and said "I will have a beer." The sports writers said why don't you have a belt of whisky you old pelican, you. But Fritzie stuck strictly to his beer and then the most loquacious athlete of these or any other times began to orate.

Zivic told his life story: he talked about his pugilistic career, and he discussed his life in the army, his present preoccupation.

Predicts Knockout

He didn't even mention Harold Green whom he meets at Madison Square Garden tonight, until some one asked him how the fight would come out. Then Zivic said he would score a knockout.

Zivic is an amazing young old man. He has a stable of 17 fighters working for him even while he is in the army, he revealed. He has fighters working everywhere, most of them stumblebums that he could beat himself.

However, he rates everything he can get. The shadow of doubt has hovered over him on several occasions. He might have found it expedient, let us say, to meet arrangements. He still has been a heluva of a fighter.

As for conniving, he said:

"I was accused of laying down to Freddy (Red) Cochrane when he took the welter title away from me but I didn't. I was accused of doing business in other bouts but I didn't. Anyway, I'm still going when a lot of fighters are through."

Not Convincing

Zivic can spend the rest of his life defending himself and witnesses to his bout with Cochrane will never be convinced that Zivic could have ever seen the day when he was so utterly terrible that Cochrane could beat him.

However, this piece is about Zivic of the U. S. Army who fights on the side.

He mentioned his two bouts with Al (Bummy) Davis who was in the Army for a time.

In the first fight Zivic won when Davis was disqualified for numerous low punches and a kick at the referee.

In the second bout Davis was flattened in the 10th round. In the meantime Zivic spent the evening cutting Davis to ribbons and on his own work could have scored a knockout any time after the third round. Instead, Zivic cut Davis' eyes open, split his lips, beat him in the body and anytime he had Davis on the verge of a knockout he seemed to hold up his opponent so that he could cut him and rip him some more in the most sadistic bout ever seen in these parts.

"Sure I cut him up and I hit him low and I choked him and gouge him and held him up when it seemed as though I was about to knock him out," Zivic said.

"All I wanted to do was to give it to him good. My manager, Mike Carney was afraid after a couple of rounds that I would hurt my hands or get cut and tried to bet me $500 I couldn't score a knockout in the next round. I didn't take the bet until after the 9th then I knocked him out after I was through cutting him up."

Three Softball Games Tonight

New Castle softball fans will have three good games to watch this evening, with two games having a direct bearing on first place in the league. All games will start at 6 o'clock.

At Gaston park, the DeCarbo Bombers battle the first place Shenango Pottery team and hope to oust the Potters from the top rung. Francis Lipovsky will oppose Ritchie on the hill with Santangelo, who hurled last night, also available for the Amodiemen.

The DeCarbo Bombers will be the home team in the game at Gaston park, it was announced, the Potters having been the home team the last time the two teams tangled.

At Marshall field the Lockley Machines, clamoring for the top rung, also will play the Standard Springs team and will face Norm Bshero. It is indicated. The veteran Bob Parcarella will do the Locks pitching.

At Annex field the Veterans will tangle with the Universal Pots and will have Duda on the hill against McCart or Attisone.

Of Penn State's spring sports teams, only the track team was undefeated. The Lion runners made a clean sweep of their three dual meets, topping Colgate twice and Muhlenberg once.

Carmen Sylva was the pen name of Queen Elizabeth of Romania who died in 1916.

Shenango Pottery Defeats Veterans

Potters Take First Place In Softball League By 15 To 1 Upset Victory

Shenango Pottery softball team enjoys the lead in the Industrial softball loop today over the surging DeCarbo Bombers and the Lockley Machines, by having handed the Deshon Annex Veterans a shellacking last night at Annex field 15 to 1.

Diz Santangelo did the Shenango pitching and was stingy with hits allowing but five while the Potters really teed-off on Captain Vanderhoff and blasted out 22 hits. Heavy Pottery sluggers were Leonelli, Jay Thomas and Bus Delly. Best in the soldier lineup was Mesengale with a triple. Tonight the Potters and DeCarbo Bombers battle at Gaston park with first place at stake.

Nickie Ross, veteran softball player, suffered a rather painful injury in a play at home plate in the game last night and had to have hospital attention, it was reported today by Manager Fido Amodie of the Pottery team. He may be out of action for at least two weeks, it was indicated.

Score by innings:		R	H	E
Annex	000 010 000—	1	5	4
Shenango	010 120 65——	15	22	1

Batteries: Deshon Annex, Capt. Vanderhoff and Adkins; Shenango Pottery, Santangelo and Leonelli.

Fractional Gains In Utilities Put Group At New Eight-Year High

NEW YORK, June 22—(INS)—Buying of the railroad shares and a highly specialized demand which helped the liquors and some low-priced motors featured early trading in the stock market today. Fractional gains in the utilities put this group at a new 8-year high.

Volume was heavy, running only slightly below the 2,100,000-level of yesterday.

The interest in the carrier shares was led off by buying in Baltimore & Ohio which jumped 3-4 at the start. Other railroads scored small gains.

Schenley led liquors with a rise of better than 2 points. Packard featured the low-priced motors with a gain of 1-4 point. U S Rubber jumped 1 1-8 to 59 5-8.

Low priced issues dominated the early market advance. Bonds were dull.

OLD SOL AND BEAUTY, TO BOOT

A BEAUTY TREATMENT and a perfect sun-tan may now be obtained by women as a result of a new plastic mask developed by Maurice Seiderman. The material from which the mask is made diffuses the sun's rays and also shuts out the harmful rays. In addition the heat of the sun on the mask produces a gentle perspiration which stimulates the action of the pores of the skin, cleanses them and lubricates the tissues. Anne Jeffreys, movie player, is model. (International)

Lawrence County Farm And Home News

CHECK ON COMBINE AS HARVEST NEARS

A last-minute check on the combine to make sure it is in working order for the approaching harvest season will eliminate many of the troubles which usually occur during the harvest season.

In examining their machines, Lawrence County farmers should thoroughly clean out all bearings, and see that all belts are in good working condition and that slip clutches are working.

Where combines have a motor mounted, the cooling system is an important item to look over as well as all valves and the oil filter. The carburetor should be taken apart and cleaned, and adjusted if necessary. Spark plugs [illegible] should be checked and adjusted to manufacturer requirements. The breaker points in the magneto or distributor should be inspected for position and proper spacing. Grease in the transmission should be checked and changed if necessary.

The combine has been used for several months and may need a tune-up. If a speed counter or indicator is not on hand one should be purchased.

NICOTINE SULPHATE KILLS LICE ON HENS

Nicotine sulphate, an insecticide commonly used to kill lice and mites on chickens, eliminates the need for catching every bird and treating them individually.

The solution is spread in a thin stream with a brush or oil can on the top of the roost about a half hour before roosting time. The roosts should be first be cleaned. Care must be exercised that only a moderate amount of the material be used, and that the poultry house is well ventilated. A second application may be necessary in 10 days to kill the young lice which hatched after the first application.

CAN CLEAN UPHOLSTERED FURNITURE WITH DRY SUDS

Longer wear, as well as that fresh new look, may be expected from upholstered furniture that's well cleaned. Homemakers can clean the pieces that have received just ordinary wear, but the badly soiled pieces are best cleaned by a professional.

To make the job of cleaning at home easy and effective, the following suggestions are offered: choose a warm, dry day for cleaning. Put the pieces in a well aired room or outdoors.

First of all, do a thorough job of dusting. If you have a vacuum cleaner with attachments, go over the top and sides of the furniture several times. Also lightly beat the surface. Next turn the furniture over, loosen the cloth covering the base and thoroughly clean the springs. This is the time to look for and replace any broken or worn spring cords that can be reached. Replace the cloth, turn the piece upright and go over the top and side surfaces once more.

If no vacuum cleaner is available, brush gently with a clothes-brush and collect the dust in the dustpan. Clean around the cords and pleating with a toothbrush and along the crevices with a vegetable brush. Use the brushes or a [illegible] cloth the [illegible].

To remove spots and for [illegible] carbon tetrachloride. Sturdy fabrics will respond well to dry suds cleaning. For dry suds, prepare a thick suds of hot water and mild soap flakes. Cool to lukewarm, then with a sponge or soft cloth apply the suds on a small section of the fabric at a time using quick, light circular strokes. When the suds are dirty, lift them off with a spoon or spatula. Repeat the process until the section is clean, then go over it with a soft cloth moistened in warm water. Avoid soaking the material. Pat dry with a clean, dry cloth.

Continue the sudsing and drying until the entire surface of the piece has been cleaned. Allow to dry thoroughly before using the furniture. Full or partial slip covers will protect the clean upholstery.

A celanese rayon shower and curtain set should be washed with mild, lukewarm suds and rinsed with cool, clear water. They may be pressed with a warm, not hot iron while still damp. Do not rub, squeeze or wring this type of fabric, but handle it gently.

Cutback In Shell Orders Reported At Local Plant

Due to the decreased demand for 155 millimeter shells by the armed forces, a gradual cutback in employment effective beginning July 13 was announced today by the United Engineering and Foundry company.

In announcing the cut-back, Howard B. Cummings, plant superintendent said "with the defeat of Germany and the cessation of hostilities in Europe the demand for heavy artillery shells quite naturally has decreased. Our quotos of 155's at the New Castle plant have been decreased, which means a decreased employment.

"Beginning July 13 and continuing until late in August there will be a gradual cutback until approximately 250 employes will have been released."

"There is under consideration at the present time, a new type of shell which may be made here. Should new contracts eventuate, cutbacks will not be necessary by mid-July."

THEY SHOULD HAVE KEPT MOUTHS SHUT

WITH U. S. GROUND FORCES ON WESTERN FRONT (INS)—Abusive language against the United States so provoked Pfc. Joseph A. Mitchell of Wilkes-Barre, Pa., that he turned on his armed German captors, and knocked both of them unconscious.

While driving his jeep from a battalion command post, the 318th regiment infantryman was hailed by two soldiers in the edge of some woods. He stopped and the men approached him. He saw too late the two were Nazis and that they had him covered.

He talked to the Germans, one of whom spoke English, and tried to convince them to surrender. The English-speaking Nazi couldn't see any sense in that, however, and proceeded to heap abuse on the Americans and their ways.

That was evidently too much for Mitchell. He let go with a left hook that caught the Nazi flush on the chain and sent him sprawling. Turning to the other Nazi, Pfc. Mitchell threw a punch at him and flattened him also.

The Germans surrendered lying down.

SALEM, Ore. (INS)—The housing shortage is so bad in Oregon even Governor Earl Snell will soon be evicted from his rented home with no place to go. The legislature rushed through a bill to build a governor's mansion and hopes it can be finished before the governor is forced out into the streets.
